OUTDOORS WA CODE OF CONDUCT

All members of Outdoors WA are governed by the Code of Conduct. The Code of Conduct is a working document that can be reviewed and modified by consensus at the Annual General Meeting. This general Code of Conduct is designed to provide guidance on acceptable standards of professional conduct. The Code focuses on essential matters. It should not however, be narrowly interpreted. While it contains specific principles, it is equally important that the spirit of these principles should govern professional conduct. The Code sets out minimum requirements. It is expected, though, that all members shall strive to achieve a level of professionalism in excess of such minimum requirements. Organisational members will be responsible for employees and volunteers adhering to the requirements of the code of conduct and should make them aware of the contents of this document. Members must:-

- 1) Act in a professional manner when dealing with staff, clients and peers:
  - brief clients and staff about safety and emergencies procedures;
  - identify and follow through relevant duty of care responsibilities;
  - maintain and store activity equipment used by clients and staff correctly;
  - use honesty and integrity to underlie their entire professional decisions and actions.
  - respect the rights, dignity and worth of every human being and at all times safeguard their interests.
  - strive to improve their professional services and to keep their knowledge up to date.
  - refrain from any conduct or action which may tarnish the image of the Outdoor Recreation industry.
- 2) Aim to provide safe quality experiences for any person involved in programs with particular reference to the following:
  - all participants with particular regard for equal opportunity (as per the Equal Opportunity Act 1977);
  - all participants with particular regard for occupational health and safety (as per the W.A. Occupational, Health and Safety Act);
  - all participants with particular regard for child protection (as per Child Protection Bill or equivalent).
- 3) Meet and abide by all legal and statutory requirements including:
  - Public Liability Insurance
  - Professional Indemnity
  - Business Registration
  - Voluntary worker's insurance
  - Workers Compensation
- 4) Implement minimal impact practices appropriate to the environment, including (but not limited to) the following:
  - involving participants in implementing and monitoring minimal impact;
  - travelling on the tracks provided (driving, walking, riding);
  - choosing campsites carefully;
  - ensuring fires (if any) are safe;
  - dealing appropriately with rubbish and other waste disposal;
  - using toilets provided;
  - protecting native species and habitats (including avoiding harassment of wildlife);
  - avoiding the use or purchase of endangered species and products;
  - avoiding bringing firearms, flora or fauna into protected areas; and
  - abiding by all of the rules and regulations of the respective land managers responsible for the areas used (e.g. CALM, local Government authorities).
- 5) Demonstrate consideration of gender, cultural and ethnic differences in their professional practice, by:
  - identifying, adopting and practicing a policy of equal opportunity, as per the Equal Opportunity Act 1977;
  - demonstrating a consistent policy of non-discrimination on the basis of gender;
  - demonstrating an understanding of and respect for local cultures and environments;
  - operating in accordance with relevant legislation and regulation;
  - operating in accordance with any guidelines or local rules of the host community, expressed or implied;
  - conveying to participants the value of local cultures, traditions and environments, and the need for sensitive protection;
  - portraying realistic images of the host community and the environment in question;
  - explaining what constitutes accepted behaviour in the areas being visited;
  - leading by example, using positive reinforcement and taking corrective action where necessary, to gain participant compliance with suggested practices.
- 6) Ensure accurate keeping of relevant records, including:
  - participant's health and medical information;
  - booking and or hire agreements;
  - personal employment agreements; and
  - accident / incident reports.
- 7) Maintain current relevant first aid qualifications and upgrade when necessary;
- 8) Comply with clearly defined Standard Operating Procedures and relevant documented guidelines:
  - develop an emergency management plan for routine and non-routine incidents and activate if necessary;
  - identify and reduce or remove hazards that threaten the safety of clients and staff or property;
  - ensure that an appropriate Hygiene Policy has been considered and is followed (that appropriate hygiene procedures and conditions in the preparation of foods, toileting and related personal hygiene matters are adhered to);
  - establish that the environment is suitable for the proposed activity and ability of the group.
- 9) Understand employer's Statement of Policy:
  - identify and understand the aims and objectives of the organisation or business regardless of its educational, recreational or experiential focus.
- 10) Commit to ongoing Professional Development:
  - participate in sufficient personal and professional development so as to ensure retention of registered skill level; and
  - participate in activities that will upgrade their ability to communicate with and manage participants within sensitive natural and cultural settings.

MEMBERSHIP SERVICES AND BENEFITS

Outdoors WA seeks to foster the provision of safe, high quality outdoor programs in WA. Outdoors WA is an active member of the industry's national bodies including the Outdoor Council of Australia and the Australian Camps Association. At state level, Outdoors WA represents and advocates on behalf of persons and organisations delivering outdoor programs for community, educational and corporate purposes with the Departments of Sport and Recreation, Education and Training, Environment and Conservation, Tourism, and Water, plus Future Now, the WA Sports Federation and so on. This complex network of liaisons ensures that the needs of outdoor leaders and their interests are kept well informed and serviced. Outdoors WA holds and annual state conference, hosts an e-newsletter, professional development forums and seminars. Outdoors WA maintains the National Outdoor Leader Registration Scheme (NOLRS) and advocates programs in Accreditation and Adventure Activity Standards (AAS). Members receive discounts on all products and services.
