CODES OF ETHICS AND PRACTICE

In order to present a comprehensive set of guidelines, NOLRS has developed both a Code of Ethics and a Code of Practice. The Code of Ethics is designed to provide a fundamental guidance and may be widely interpreted. The spirit of these ethics should permeate the conduct of a NOLRS outdoor leader. The code of Practice is designed to provide more specific guidelines regarding acceptable standards of professional practice. These practices focus on essential matters and should be used as a minimum standard of practice. All persons registered through NOLRS are encouraged to strive to achieve a level of professionalism in excess of such minimum requirements. These Codes cover the following seven areas:

- |              |               |               |                  |
|--------------|---------------|---------------|------------------|
| * Competence | * Concern     | * Respect     | * Responsibility |
| * Integrity  | * Recognition | * Objectivity |                  |

Registration through NOLRS requires compliance with both Codes

Code of Ethics	Code of Practice
✓ Respect the fundamental rights, dignity and worth of every human being.	✓ Avoid false, misleading or deceptive statements when describing or reporting qualifications, experience, services, products or fees.
✓ Interact with both clients and peers with honesty, fairness and respect.	✓ Participate in ongoing professional efforts to maintain your knowledge, practice and skills.
✓ Treat each client as an individual and be sensitive to their needs and well-being, assisting each individual to reach their full potential.	✓ Promote and conduct activities within your level of competence and take reasonable steps to ensure the competence of your work.
✓ Use honesty and integrity to underlie decisions and actions.	✓ Do not exploit or mislead clients or other leaders during and after professional relationships.
✓ Be aware of responsibilities and ensure that you possess an adequate basis for professional judgements.	✓ Respect clients' rights to privacy, confidentiality and self-determination within the limits of the law.
✓ Provide services within the boundaries of your education, training, supervision, experience and practice.	✓ Act in a professional manner when dealing with staff, clients and peers, displaying high levels of language, manner, preparation and presentation.
✓ Provide the safest possible environment, both physical and psychological, for your clients.	✓ Provide clients with appropriate information about the nature of services and their rights, risks and responsibilities.
✓ Conduct experiences in a manner that results in minimal environmental impact.	✓ Avoid all forms of harassment and/or discrimination.
✓ Seek continual improvement through performance appraisal and ongoing education.	✓ Provide activities which are planned and appropriate to the ability and needs of the client.
✓ Be committed to the provision of quality customer service to your clients.	✓ Respect clients' rights to refuse consent to services and activities.
✓ Be a positive role model for your clients and peers/work colleagues.	✓ Identify and follow relevant "duty of care" responsibilities.
✓ Be aware of how your personal belief system, values, needs and limitations affect your clients.	✓ Store and utilise equipment according to manufacturers' specifications/organisational procedures.
✓ Be sensitive to cultural and individual differences, including those due to age, race, gender, ethnicity, national origin, religion, sexual orientation, disability and socio-economic status.	✓ Abide by any contractual or permit requirements of resource managers (e.g. facility owners, land management agencies, marine authorities).
✓ Encourage the development of standards and policies that serve the clients' interests as well as those of the public.	✓ Abide by specific land management or activity specific rules or codes of ethics/conduct/practice where they exist.
	✓ Abide by all applicable state and federal legislation and local government regulations.
	✓ Brief clients and staff about safety and emergency procedures.
	✓ Abide by the relevant documented risk management procedures.
